City hospital target of ransomware attackers

Dr. Chandragupta, City Police Commissioner

- After encrypting data, cybercriminals demand payment through bitcoins
- FIR registered at Cybercrime, Economic offences and Narcotics (CEN) Police Station

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (RK&BCT)- Cyberattacks on healthcare systems have spiked during the pandemic, threatening patient care and private data. While many such cases have been reported from other parts of the State, probably for the first time, a reputed private hospital in the city has been targeted by ransomware attackers.

Recently, the hospital employees who were operating computers for day-to-day operations complained of strange computer access problems. Concerned, team members started looking for signs of malicious software and found a file with instructions to contact the perpetrators of the cyberattack.

Using ransomware, which is malware that encrypts hospital data until a ransom is paid, the people behind the attack held hostage the data and asked payment through bitcoins. The hospital authorities realised that their main financial server and patient data were hacked into and the message was left behind seeking payment in the bitcoin.

Fortunately the hospital had a data backup in hard disks and nothing much was lost. Functions at the healthcare unit have resumed now with the back-up data. The hospital's chief security officer has lodged a complaint at Cybercrime, Economic offences and Narcotics (CEN) Police Station in Nazarbad.

Confirming this to Star of Mysore this morning, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta said that the FIR was registered at CEN Police Station on Nov. 19 under Inspector Shekhar and the team is involved in the investigation.

"We have heard of such ransomware attacks from elsewhere but this is for the first time such an incident has been reported in Mysuru and that too in a reputed hospital," he said. The team is looking into the complaint as per procedure, he added.

Two lakh people skip second dose: DC

- Vaccine hesitancy among educated a matter of grave concern
- No strain of new Omicron detected in Mysuru; high alert at borders

Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham addressing a press conference yesterday. He is flanked by MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy (left) and ZP CEO A.M. Yogesh.

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (MTY&BCT)- Faced with the looming threat posed by the Omicron variant of COVID-19, the Department of Health and Family Welfare has been instructed to substantially increase the second dose coverage by the end of December. This is due to rampant vaccine hesitancy and in Mysuru alone more than two lakh people above 18 years — that is 35 percent of the population — have skipped the second dose.

"We are working towards enhancing second dose vaccination coverage expeditiously but unfortunately many educated people are hesitating from taking the jab," said Mysuru DC Dr. Bagadi Gautham. He was addressing a press conference at his office last afternoon on the COVID situation in Mysuru, the Omicron threat and also the vaccination coverage.

No lockdown but follow strict rules, says CM

Omicron behaviour being assessed after genomic sequencing; results soon

Bengaluru, Nov. 30 (Agencies)- Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has dismissed fears in some quarters over any possible lockdown amid COVID-19 cases in some educational institutions including two Nursing Colleges in Mysuru and the detection of the Omicron, a variant of the virus in some parts of the world.

Allaying apprehensions, he made it clear yesterday that there was no proposal to impose lockdown. "We have instructed adherence to strict precautions at Schools and Colleges but not to close them. There is no proposal to impose the lockdown," he said.

Speaking to reporters here, the CM urged people not to panic about Omicron and asked them to strictly follow guidelines. He said those arriving from the countries where the Omicron variant was found are being screened at the airports and that they would be allowed into the cities only if they test negative.

Meanwhile, after two people who returned from South Africa tested positive, authorities have made seven days quarantine compulsory for all international passengers and intensified testing and sanitisation at Bengaluru airport.

Health Minister Dr. K. Sudhakar said that the samples of one of the two passengers tested positive for Coronavirus but was "a little different from the Delta variant."

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The NDA Government's first attempt to estimate poverty has thrown up a dire picture of "multidimensional" poverty in Hindi heartland States of Bihar, Jharkhand, UP and MP. The South appears better placed. In 1991, on economic reform-eve, Bihar and Tamil Nadu were nearly at par in per capita GDP. Three decades later, TN has whittled down its multidimensionally poor to 4.9% of population while Bihar languishes at 51.9%. Jharkhand follows with 42%, UP 38% and MP 37%. The cruel governance irony of these numbers is that the four laggard States cumulatively account for 30% of seats in Lok Sabha and their electoral outcomes play a decisive role in National Government formation.

The heavy poverty burden, despite tremendous political heft and massive welfare funding, indicts heartland netas. Poor States cannot afford their enduring obsession with identity politics, but a shift in discourse towards economic development looks unlikely. Meanwhile, farm laws' reversal makes poverty eradication in villages harder. Accounting for nearly 5 crore of India's 12.5 crore unviable agricultural land holdings under 2 hectares, the failure of these four States to call out the subsidised big farmers and lead the clarion call for agri-reforms was another missed opportunity for their political economy. — In The Times of India

Amid Omicron scare, 5,000 Kerala teachers say NO to COVID vax

Thiruvananthapuram, Nov. 30 (UNI) - As Omicron causes panic across the world, about 5,000 teachers in Kerala are hesitant to take the COVID-19 vaccination on religious grounds.

Kerala has over 1.60 lakh teachers and 20,000 non-teaching staff, sources said.

State General Education Minister V. Sivankutty has termed it as a matter of concern. He said non-vaccination of teachers means health risk for 47 lakh students and the people in the State.

"It was noticed that some teachers are coming to the schools without taking the COVID vaccine. This cannot be justified and supported," the Minister told newspersons here on Sunday.

When a large number of population is co-operating with the vaccination drive, these kind of hesitancy by a section of teachers on religious grounds will not be justified, he added.

The Pinarayi Vijayan Government will take all possible steps and precautionary measures against the spread of various variants of COVID-19, he said.

Major religions in the US, Israel, Russia, Indonesia, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and the UAE have extended their support to COVID vaccination after they too faced these types of hesitancy on religious grounds.

REALLY...?

- The first mug was actually made from bone. Back in the day (OK, in Neolithic Stone Age), people didn't really know which materials to use to make mugs. Or, you know, they didn't have a lot of options. So, the only reasonable thing to do was to use bone for it.
- Japan and China gave us our first pottery mugs somewhere in 10,000 BCE.
- There are even clay-made mugs. Just ask the Greeks — they made these clay mugs back in 4,000-5,000 BCE. However, their venture wouldn't be very successful today. These proved to be too thick to fit into the mouth. Just imagine drinking something hot from those mugs!

Manipal Hospital creates awareness on Premature babies, Nurture and Care

Seen in the picture are parents of new-born babies with Dr. Gautam Das, Director, Manipal Hospital, Mysuru, Dr. Upendra Shenoy, Chief of Medical Services, Sant Kumar, Manager - Marketing, Dr. U.S. Bhuvaneshwar and Dr. Y.C. Anil Kumar, Consultant Paediatrician and Neonatology and Maria Thresa, Associate Manager - Nursing.

Mysuru, Nov. 30- Manipal Hospital, Mysuru, conducted a programme on Neonatal ICU Care to raise awareness on premature birth and the need for specialised care for such babies to improve survival and avoid complications later in life.

Paediatricians, the NICU team, nursing staff and patients of the hospital participated in the programme to share their views and experiences about premature birth and post prenatal care.

A normal pregnancy usually is of 40 weeks. A baby born before the 37th week of pregnancy is known as a premature baby. Premature babies are at higher risk of health complications as compared to full-term babies. Globally about 1 in 10 babies born is pre-mature every year.

Complications associated with pre-term births include breathing difficulties due to underdeveloped lungs, circulation problems due to underdeveloped heart, inability to maintain body temperature, poor immunity, under-nutrition due to inability to suck, anaemia, neonatal jaundice, Severe Necrotizing Enterocolitis, a life-threatening gastrointestinal condition, bleeding inside the brain, etc.

Premature babies are also at higher risk of developing cerebral palsy, learning difficulties, behavioural and psychological problems, vision and hearing problems. Raising awareness about the risk factors and treatment options of the same can help reduce disability related to premature birth.

"The common risk factors for preterm birth include blood pressure disorders in pregnancy, height <1.5m, premature rupture of membranes and foetal distress, previous history of premature birth, multiple pregnancies, <6 months gap between 2 pregnancies, IVF therapy, smoking, maternal infections, obesity, malnutrition, stress, multiple miscarriages or abortions and trauma," said Dr. U.S. Bhuvaneshwar, Consultant Paediatrician and Neonatology, Manipal Hospital, Mysuru.

The Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) is a specialised hospital setting that provides round-the-clock care for premature babies. Paediatricians, NICU staff and nurses work closely with one another to provide optimal respiratory support, nutrition and all necessary care to the premature baby to improve survival rates and prevent complications, said Dr. Y.C. Anil Kumar, Consultant Paediatrician and Neonatology, Manipal Hospital, Mysuru.

Sharing her experience of NICU care at Manipal Hospital, Munzarin said, "When I became pregnant, my baby was born at 27 weeks, weighing just 1.2 kgs at birth. Baby needed good medical care to improve chances of survival. I cannot thank enough the entire NICU team of Manipal Hospital who worked day and night to make sure my little one was fine. They also took good care of me and provided me emotional support at that very difficult phase of my life."

Maria Thresa, Associate Manager - Nursing and her team spoke about the importance of carefully nurturing a premature new-born. It is an emotionally challenging time for the parents and we ensure time and again to take utmost care of the baby and the parents.

Public accuse Nanjangud Police of lock-up death

CID will probe the case, says IGP (Southern Range)

Nanjangud, Nov. 30 (MC, RK&KS)-A 31-year-old man, who was in Police custody for creating ruckus in front of the house of one Maniyamma, has died under mysterious circumstances on Sunday and the public have accused the Police of lock-up death.

The deceased is Siddaraju, a resident of Byalaruhundi village in the taluk. Siddaraju took ill while in Police custody and he is said to have breathed his last while being taken to a hospital, according to Police.

But villagers have alleged that it is a lock-up death following assault on Siddaraju by the Police while in their custody.

Meanwhile, IGP (Southern Range) Pravin Madhukar Pawar yesterday handed over the investigation to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID). A magisterial inquest into the incident has also begun.

He also said that a case has been registered against one Maniyamma and seven of her family members based on the complaint by Siddaraju's mother Mahadevamma.

Pravin Madhukar Pawar (IGP) and R. Chethan (SP)

Details: On Saturday night, the Police 112 Helpline received a call that Siddaraju was creating nuisance in front of Maniyamma's house following which Nanjangud Rural Police personnel arrived at the spot, took him into custody and brought him to the Police Station. But on Sunday afternoon, Siddaraju is said to have taken ill and began to vomit, following which the Police took him to the Government Hospital, where the doctors declared him brought dead.

Meanwhile, members of the public stated that the Police said that Siddaraju was drunk when they took him into their custody and was even assaulted by a few youths. Siddaraju took ill at about 1 pm on Sunday and was taken to the hospital, but the Police entered the hospital premises only after 2.30 pm. The public have urged the higher Police officials to examine the CCTV footages of the cameras installed in the Hospital to know the fact and questioned that if Siddaraju was assaulted by the youths, why did the Police kept him in custody instead of admitting him to the hospital?

Following suspicion over Siddaraju's death, the body has been shifted to MMC&RI mortuary in Mysuru for post-mortem. Meanwhile, Superintendent of Police (SP) R. Chethan and Additional SP Shivakumar visited Nanjangud Rural Police Station and have collected information.

Meanwhile, SP Chethan, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that whether Siddaraju's death was a custodial death would be known only after conducting an investigation.

The SP further said that the Police, based on information, took Siddaraju into custody for creating nuisance in front of Maniyamma's house on Saturday night and had brought him to the Police Station. As Siddaraju was drunk, a medical examination was also conducted.

Maniyamma came to the Police Station on Sunday and lodged a complaint against Siddaraju. At about 12.30 pm, Siddaraju began to vomit and took ill, following which the Police took him to the hospital, where he was declared dead.

Siddaraju's family members have lodged a complaint stating that a few members of Maniyamma's family had assaulted Siddaraju before the Police took him (Siddaraju) into their custody but they have not accused the Police in any ways. But still a thorough investigation will be conducted into Siddaraju's death, SP Chethan added.

School teachers stage symbolic demonstration

Seek an end to confusion over transfer

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (SPN&DM)- Seeking an end to confusions over In-cadre transfer of Primary School teachers, school teachers and office-bearers of the District Unit of Karnataka State Government School Primary Teachers Association staged a symbolic demonstration in front of the DDPI office here yesterday.

Later, they submitted a memorandum seeking a clear and favourable transfer policy.

District Unit President Somegowda said that the 25 percent ceiling on transfer of Primary School teachers has created a lot of problems for such teachers who are serving at one place for over 20 years. Citing the example of H.D. Kote taluk, where teachers are confused a lot due to the complex nature of transfer, he said that the classification of teacher posts as Primary School Teachers (PST) and Graduate Primary Teachers (GPT) is all the more confusing and this unclarity has continued even in transfers.

Expressing concerns that the non-deployment of teachers in rural and interior parts of the district had resulted in a dip in learning capabilities of children, he urged the authorities for formulating a better transfer policy in the interests of teachers.

Cops exhume body, arrest two accused

Curious onlookers at the spot from where the body of the murder victim was exhumed.

Hunsur, Nov. 30 (Hanagod Mahesh&KS)- Hunsur Rural Police have arrested two persons on charges of murdering their friend in a drunken stupor and burying the body.

While the deceased has been identified as Ashoka (33), a resident of BBC Colony near Hosur in the taluk, the accused have been identified as Gopal and Ashok, both friends of the victim and residents of the same place.

About three days ago, when Ashoka was watching TV in his house at about 8 pm, Gopal and Ashok, who came to the house, took him for a drink near Maramma Temple. After a few drinks, Gopal and Ashok allegedly murdered Ashoka, dug a ditch with the help of a earth excavating machine and buried the body.

As Ashoka did not come to the house even in the morning, his wife Mallige and uncle Ramakrishna, a Gram Panchayat Member, enquired Gopal and Ashok about the whereabouts of Ashoka during which the accused told them that he left for home last night itself. The family members of Ashoka then launched a search for him and as Ashoka could not be found anywhere, they summoned Gopal and Ashok and conducted a 'panchaythi' and here too the accused denied knowing the whereabouts of Ashoka.

Victim Ashoka

Left with no option, the family members of Ashoka lodged a complaint with Hunsur Rural Police following which accused Gopal and Ashok went absconding. The Police, who took up the investigation, formed a team to trace the accused and the Police team led by Inspector Chikkaswamy arrested the two accused near Mandya and brought them to the Police Station where they interrogated the accused following which they confessed of murdering Ashoka and burying his body.

Based on the information provided by the accused, Hunsur Rural Police took the accused to the spot where they had buried the body of Ashoka and exhumed it. A team of doctors conducted post-mortem on the spot.

Repair works of Compound wall of Torch Light Parade Grounds completed

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (RK&DM)- The repair works of the compound wall of Torch Light Parade Grounds in Bannimantap has been completed.

Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) had constructed the Mangalore tile top compound wall around the Grounds decades ago. But with the passage of time, the tiles broke down, thus causing damages to the compound wall. Subsequently, MUDA had invited tenders for construction of a concrete top for the compound wall, which ran up to a total length of 1,050 Metres. One N. Chandrashekar was awarded the contract for Rs. 20.42 lakh, which included removal of Mangalore tiles and construction of a concrete top with Terracotta painting. Now the works are fully completed, a fortnight ahead of MUDA's deadline of Dec. 14.

MUDA AEE Narendrakumar and AE Ravindra, who supervised the works, said that the Terracotta painting of the compound wall, which now has a concrete top, will not fade under sunshine or rains.

Two lakh people skip second dose: DC

In the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) limits, over 1 lakh people have not received their vaccination despite many awareness campaigns including door-to-door facilities, he said.

"All the Primary Health Centres (PHCs) and vaccination booths in all the three Assembly Constituencies have conducted aggressive campaigns and all the Departments had joined together with voluntary organisations. We were happy to see long queues in front of the vaccination centres. But all that was the initial hype and after an 84-day gap, the queues disappeared," he revealed.

"In Mysuru city, an average of 40,000 people from all the three Constituencies are yet to take the second dose and the first dose is due for around 1 lakh people. It has become a worrying factor as people have become hesitant to get vaccinated. I am urging them to become responsible and get themselves vaccinated soon for their own safety and the safety of others," he said.

"Vaccination with two doses is the only answer to the pandemic and all its present variants. If you are vaccinated, the intensity of the infection is scaled down. The severity will be less and the chances of fatality will be less in case of hospitalisation," he explained.

Over 63.64 percent of people have got their second dose and if people cooperate, the administration is ready to take the percentage to 100 in the next two weeks. There is a stock of 3.85 lakh doses of vaccines and the health staff are fully geared up to step up vaccination, he added

No Omicron cases in Mysuru

Replying to a question, DC Dr. Bagadi Gautham said that the samples of 72 COVID-19 positive nursing students of Mysuru were sent for genome sequencing and they have detected a regular COVID-19 strain. The new Omicron strain has not been detected and in the two cluster cases, all the students are safe and are being treated.

"No strain of Omicron has been detected in Mysuru and we have taken all possible steps acting on the Government instructions to step up surveillance on the inter-State borders," he revealed.

He added that 1,120 primary and secondary contacts of the infected nursing students have been traced and tests conducted on them proved negative. They would again undergo RT-PCR test on the 7th day (from the day of test) as per the Government norms.

Vigil at borders

Mentioning that all Government orders were being followed stringently especially at the borders, he said, "At the Bavali check-post, we are maintaining a strict vigil. In the last 10 days, we sent 160 vehicles back for not following the RTP-CR test rules. In the last one month, we conducted 90,734 tests and the positivity rate is 0.83 percent. On an average, 20 to 25 positive cases have been detected since the last one-and-a-half months. Last week, the positivity rate was 0.97 percent," he said.

MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, ZP CEO A.M. Yogesh, District Health Officer (DHO) Dr. K.H. Prasad and others were present with the DC.

The modus operandi is to target the data with ransomware and malware that encrypts an infected device and any attached devices or network drives. After encryption, cybercriminals demand a ransom before releasing the devices from encoding. If adequate disaster recovery and backup plans are not made, many businesses are forced to pay the ransom to get the release of the devices from encoding.

These ransoms are most often requested in the form of bitcoins, a type of cryptocurrency. When using bitcoins, transactions are irreversible and the owner of a particular bitcoin account can remain anonymous.

Because of the ability of bitcoin to make transactions accessible while protecting the anonymity of those involved, it has become the preferred currency for criminal activity including that of ransomware hackers.

No lockdown but follow strict rules, says CM

Airport authorities in Bengaluru have also made RT-PCR and Rapid Antigen Testing for those travelling from other countries and thermal screening compulsory.

The Minister said he was not supposed to say anything officially as he was still in touch with the Union Health Ministry and the Indian Council for Medical Research (ICMR) officials. "There is a Delta variant for the past nine months only, but you are saying that one of the samples is Omicron. I cannot say about it officially. I am in touch with the ICMR and Central Government officials," Dr. Sudhakar said.

The sample has been sent to ICMR, he said. Refusing to divulge the identity of the man, the Minister said his COVID report shows that he has contracted a different variant. "There is a 63-year-old man whose name I should not disclose. His report is a bit different. It appears different from the Delta variant. We will discuss with the ICMR officials and will let people know by the evening what it is," the Minister said.

"We will get clear information on Dec. 1 about how the Omicron behaves after the genomic sequencing. Accordingly we will initiate all measures," he said. Stating that the new variant is visible in at least 12 nations, Dr. Sudhakar said the international travellers will be tested carefully and those tested positive will be hospitalised compulsorily.

On Omicron, Dr. Sudhakar, who himself is a medical professional, said he has also spoken to his classmate doctors working in South Africa, who told him that the new variant is not as dangerous as the Delta variant.

"The satisfying thing I came across after talking to my classmates in South Africa is that this (Omicron variant) spreads rapidly, but it is not as dangerous as Delta. People feel nausea and vomiting and sometimes the pulse rate goes up, but loss of taste and smell is not there. There is less hospitalisation because its intensity is not severe," he explained.

WORD OF THE DAY

Draconian

Pronunciation: dray-KOH-nee-un.
Meaning: Draconian means "cruel" or "severe." It is usually used to describe harsh laws, rules, or regulations.
Origin: Draconian comes from Draco, the name of a 7th-century B.C. Athenian legislator who created a written code of law. Draco's code was intended to clarify existing laws, but its severity is what made it really memorable. According to the code, even minor offenses were punishable by death, and failure to pay one's debts could result in slavery. Draconian, as a result, became associated with especially authoritative actions that are viewed as cruel or harsh.
Example: "Members of the public were mostly against the censure policy.... They said the policy was draconian, divisive and unnecessary." — Braden Cartwright

'Rising corruption hurting country's growth'

Opines Ankegowda of 'Pustaka Mane' fame

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (SPN&DM)- Expressing concern over rising corruption in the country, avid book collector Ankegowda of Pandavapura's 'Pustaka Mane' fame, said that the evil of corruption and misdeeds is badly hurting the country's growth and prosperity.

He was delivering a talk on 'Special experiences of Librarians and Kannada lecturers in their professional life' at the Kannada Book Festival organised by Bengaluru's Rashtrothana Sahitya Parishat at Nanjaraj Bahadur Choultry on Vinoba Road in city on Saturday.

Regretting that reading habits among students is on the decline, Ankegowda observed that such an atmosphere will make the youths to look at deviant ways for making money, rather than earn it, right from the day they join for work.

Expressing concern that such an attitude will lead to deterioration of the society, he said that the literary world is beyond the horizons of any religion or communities.

Observing that literary giants of the past used to think beyond their own castes or religion, he said that there were many examples on how this was portrayed in their writings. However, it is very discerning to note that of late writers are getting identified with their caste, he said.

Asserting that imbibing reading culture among professionals, especially among those in Government service, will help in eradication of corruption, he contended that reading habits will make students think about good values.

KSOU Librarian Dr. K. Prakash, in his address, called upon students preparing for competitive exams to make use of the University's Digital Library.

Maintaining that the use of Libraries will make the student think different from his deviant ways, he reiterated that the Digital Library is of great help for students appearing for competitive exams.

St. Philomena's College PU faculty Arokiaraj, Gopalaswamy PU College Librarian Shailaja, Lecturer Hemanth, MIT College faculty Lateshwari, Sadvidya College faculty Manjunath and others too shared their opinions and experiences.

Nataraja Degree College Kannada faculty Sandhyarani and Usharani, Programme Co-ordinator M.S. Paramananda, Bhagyashri, Sriram, Chetan Manjunath and others were present on the occasion.
